With over 12 years of experience in the hospitality industry, including 7.5 years with the Good Eating Company (GEC), she brings extensive knowledge and proven leadership to her role as General Manager. She oversees staff recruitment and development, manages client relationships, and handles critical operational tasks such as payroll, invoicing, and performance reviews. Widely respected for her ability to lead teams effectively, she has consistently ensured smooth day-to-day operations across multiple sites.

During her time at GEC, she has worked closely with prestigious clients such as The Office Group, Brit Insurance, American Express, and Diageo. She played a pivotal role in the post-pandemic re-opening of sites, facilitating a seamless return to full operations. Known for her strengths in client management, menu planning, and hands-on leadership, she has consistently exceeded client expectations in delivering corporate catering and hospitality services, as reflected by the positive feedback she regularly receives. Her expertise in crafting tailored proposals that align with both quality and budget expectations, along with her meticulous attention to product and team presentation, makes her an invaluable asset to any corporate hospitality team.
