To Whom It May Concern,

Re: Letter of Commitment – Coffee Supply for Arup (via The Good Eating Company)

Geometry Coffee is pleased to confirm our commitment to supporting The Good Eating Company in the delivery of a high-quality, sustainably sourced, and fully traceable coffee solution for Arup. All coffee supplied is roasted in small batches on a weekly basis at our roastery in Tuam, Co. Galway. Deliveries are made within 3–5 days of roasting, ensuring optimal freshness and consistency. All coffee is clearly labelled with roast date and batch information to support full traceability.

We operate a transparent supply chain, working with trusted importers and producers to ensure responsible sourcing practices. Where required, we are able to provide certified coffees aligned to recognised standards such as Fairtrade or Rainforest Alliance.

Our roasting and logistics model supports a short, high-velocity supply chain, enabling coffee to be used within an optimal freshness window (aligned to the 28-day requirement), maintaining quality in flavour, aroma, and extraction performance. In addition to product supply, Geometry Coffee will support The Good Eating Company with barista training, espresso calibration, and ongoing quality control to ensure consistent delivery across all locations.

We are committed to working collaboratively to deliver a premium coffee experience aligned with Arup's standards for quality, sustainability, and operational excellence.

Yours sincerely,

Matt Flannery
